THE CHINESE UNIVERSITY OF HONG KONG

CUHK
GraduateSchool
香港中文大學研究院

INTRODUCTION

The Chinese University of Hong Kong (CUHK) is a bilingual (Chinese and English) and multicultural institution of higher learning founded in 1963. As a first-class comprehensive research university with both a local and an international outlook, we aim at cultivating higher degree graduates to serve the increasingly sophisticated needs of the society and making contributions to the pool of human knowledge through top quality research. Our current enrolment of postgraduate students exceeds 12,000 and includes a substantial portion of non-local students from around the world.

The University's stunning campus commands panoramic views of the Tolo Harbour and the mountain ranges nearby. With a size of 137.3 hectare it is the largest university campus in Hong Kong. Nestled in the mountains greenery our University buildings feature an innovative mix of Chinese and Western architectural styles.

RESEARCH AT CUHK

CUHK strives to be a world-class university recognized as a centre of excellence for developing cutting-edge research and emerging interdisciplinary strengths that have global impact and make significant contributions to society.

CUHK offers a wide range of research programmes in different subject areas. CUHK encourages all academic staff to undertake consultancy and collaborative projects with the industry. Research activities at CUHK address core issues of global innovation, they integrate staff research with teaching, and they range from upstream research to midstream development.

Research Excellence

CUHK is committed to research excellence. Our academic staff members are research-active and benchmark their research against the highest international standards. CUHK has had four faculty members who are Nobel Laureates: late Professor Sir Charles Kao, Nobel Laureate in Physics who was also one of the University's former Vice-Chancellors; Professor Yang Chen Ning, Nobel Laureate in Physics; Professor Robert Mundell and late Professor Sir James Mirrlees, both Nobel Laureates in Economics.

Four Major Research Areas

The CUHK Strategic Plan 2016 identified four major areas for strategic research and substantial resources are being devoted to these areas. The four major areas are:

- China Studies
- Translational Biomedicine
- Information and Automation Technology
- Environment and Sustainability

STUDENTSHIPS, SCHOLARSHIPS & ACCOMMODATION

Hong Kong PhD Fellowship Scheme

Established by the Hong Kong Government in 2009, the Hong Kong PhD Fellowship Scheme (HKPFS) aims to attract the best students from around the world to pursue PhD studies in Hong Kong. HKPFS is a prestigious scheme which provides a monthly stipend of HK$25,100 (approx. US$3,218) and a conference travel allowance of HK$12,600 (approx. US$1,615) per year to awardees for a maximum period of three years.

Irrespective of their country of origin, prior work experience and ethnic background, top students are eligible to seek admission to full-time PhD programmes through the HKPFS. Applicants should demonstrate outstanding qualities in terms of academic performance, research potential, communication and interpersonal skills, as well as leadership abilities.

The CUHK Vice-Chancellor HKPFS Scholarship offers HKPFS awardees a tuition fee waiver for their first year of study. For awardees with a normative study period of four years, CUHK will offer the studentship and conference travel allowance at the same level for the fourth year.

HKPFS application deadline: 1 December 2018

Postgraduate Studentships/ Scholarships

CUHK offers Postgraduate Studentships (PGS) for up to 2 years to all full-time MPhil students and for up to 4 years to all full-time PhD students. The PGS for 2018-19 is HK$16,660 (approx. US$2,136) per month.

A number of scholarships and funding schemes are available to support full-time MPhil and PhD students to conduct overseas academic activities such as presenting papers at international conferences, conducting field trips and engaging in data collection projects.

Accommodation

CUHK's Postgraduate Halls (PGH) offer about 1,300 hostel places on-campus to full-time research students at a very affordable rate. Please visit the PGH website at www.pgh.cuhk.edu.hk for more information.
